

2016 Networking to Enhance Development Conference
Working with Patients throughout their Lifespan: Self-Care for the Research Coordinator

GUIDING QUESTIONS (and notes from discussion):

Potential situations for a clinical research coordinator to experience trauma:

Physical effects of secondary traumatic stress include:

Behavioral effects of STS include:

Psychological effects of STS include:

Ways to advocate around STS include:

Ethical, confidential methods to discuss secondary trauma with others:

Ways that STS in the Research Coordinator can impact care of participants and families:

Effective coping strategies for individuals include:

Effective coping strategies for groups: