

What Does a Successful Multiple-PI/Collaborative Grant Application Look Like?: An Academic Community Panel

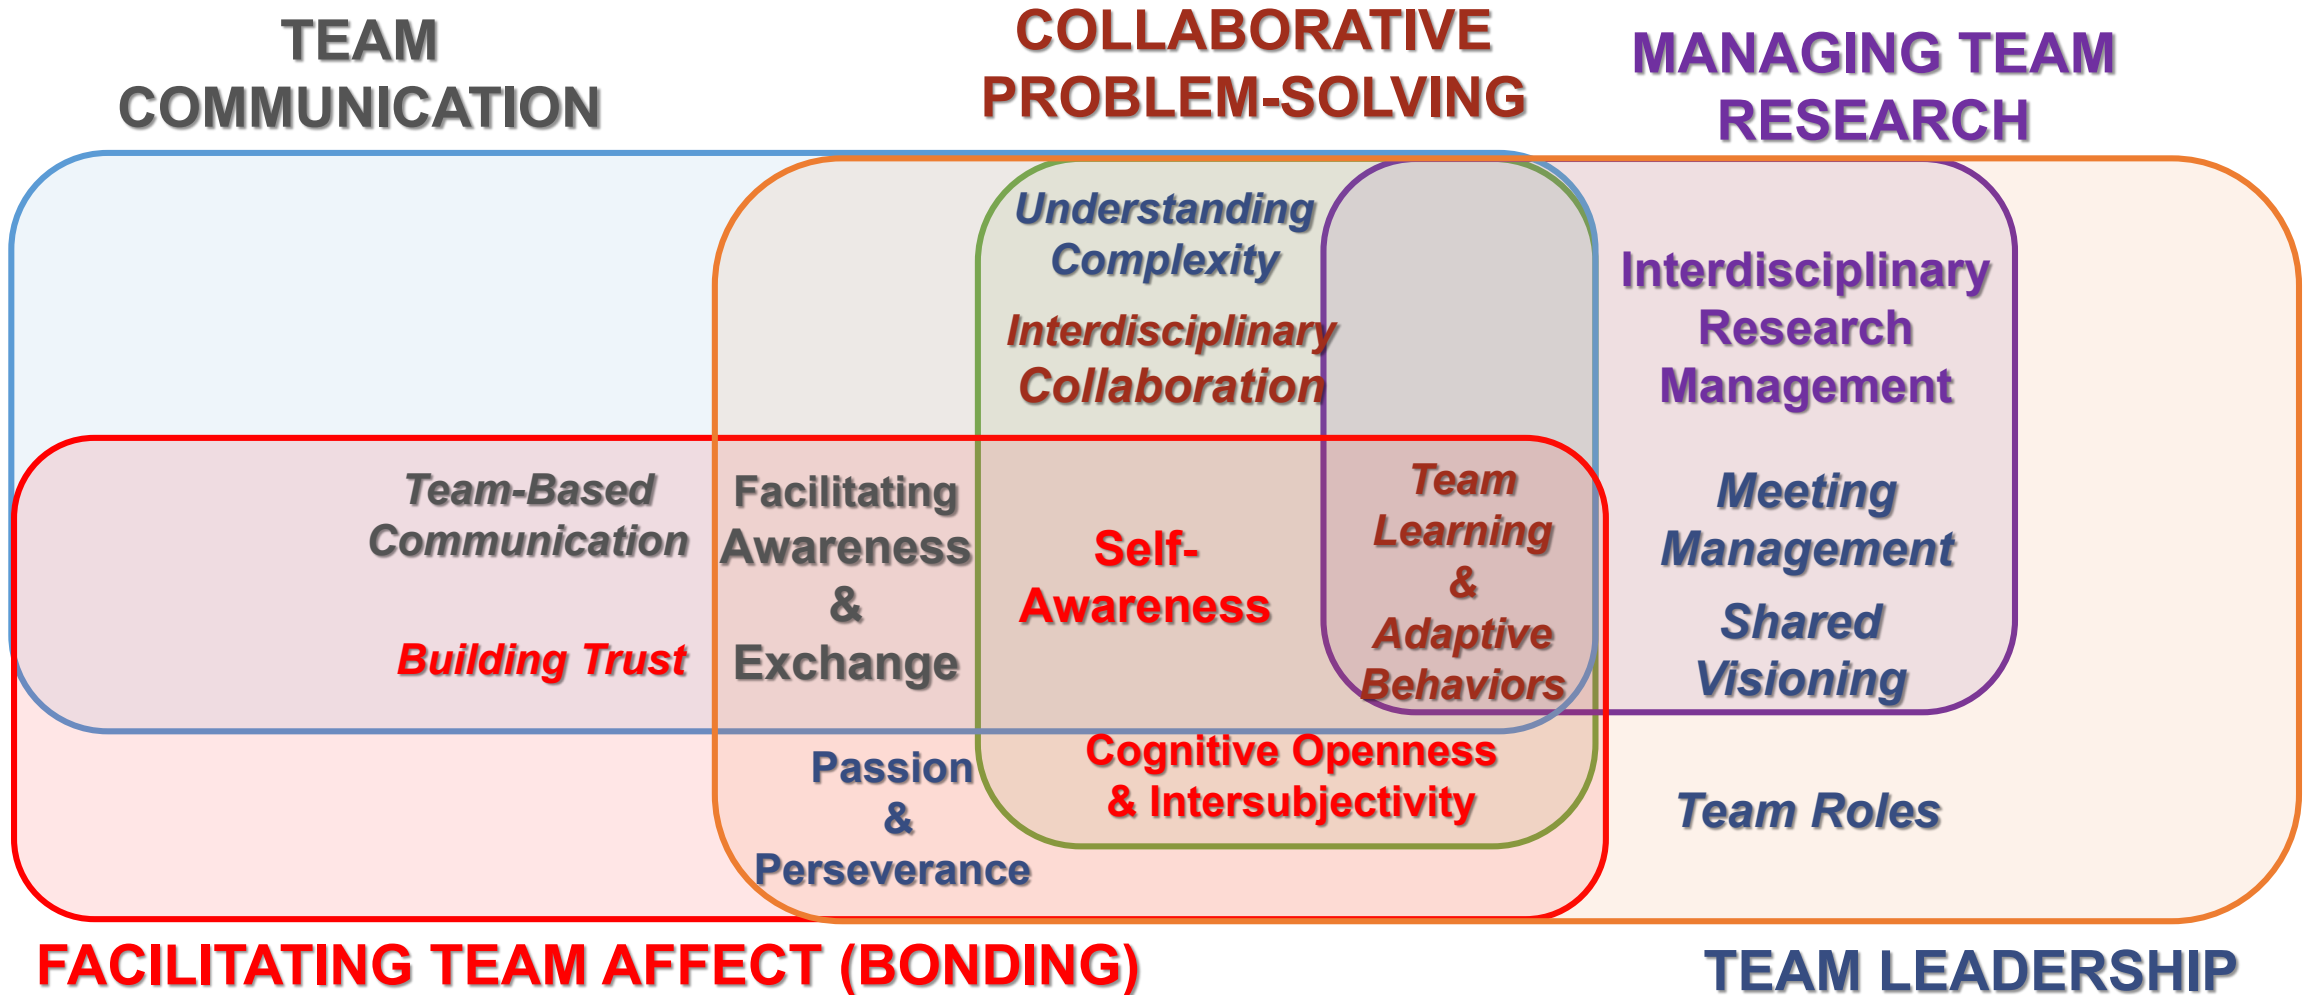

Learning Objectives

AT THE END OF THIS SEMINAR, PARTICIPANTS WILL BE ABLE TO:

1. Understand local and national trends and opportunities for collaborative biomedical research projects supported by grants.
2. Understand how academic investigators and community organizations can identify opportunities for collaborative biomedical research projects.
3. Describe the steps needed to initiate, design and execute a successful academic-community partnership for biomedical research.

Plan for the Day

- Welcome, plan for the day, panelist introductions
- Trends and opportunities in collaborative/multi-PI grants
- Panel
- Q&A with session participants
- Wrap-Up

Trends and Opportunities in Multiple PI/Collaborative Grants

- Growth in multiple-PI & collaborative grants
- NIH adopted a multiple PD/PI model in Fall 2006 to encourage interdisciplinary collaboration and other team approaches to biomedical research

Examples of Team Science Grants at ITHS Partner Institutions

ITHS: Translational Research Partnership Awards (established in 2017)

- Academic Community Partnerships
- New Interdisciplinary Academic Collaborations

UW Population Health Initiative (established in 2017)

- ▶ Pilot Research Grants (Tiers 1-3)

UW Global Cardiovascular Health Program (established in 2021)

- ▶ Interdisciplinary Team Science Pilot Grants

Seattle Children's Research Institute (pilot program in 2022)

- ▶ Team Science Ignition Pilot Program (2022-2024)

Common Elements of Multiple-PI & Collaborative Grants

MULTIPLE PD/PI LEADERSHIP PLANS THAT ADDRESS:

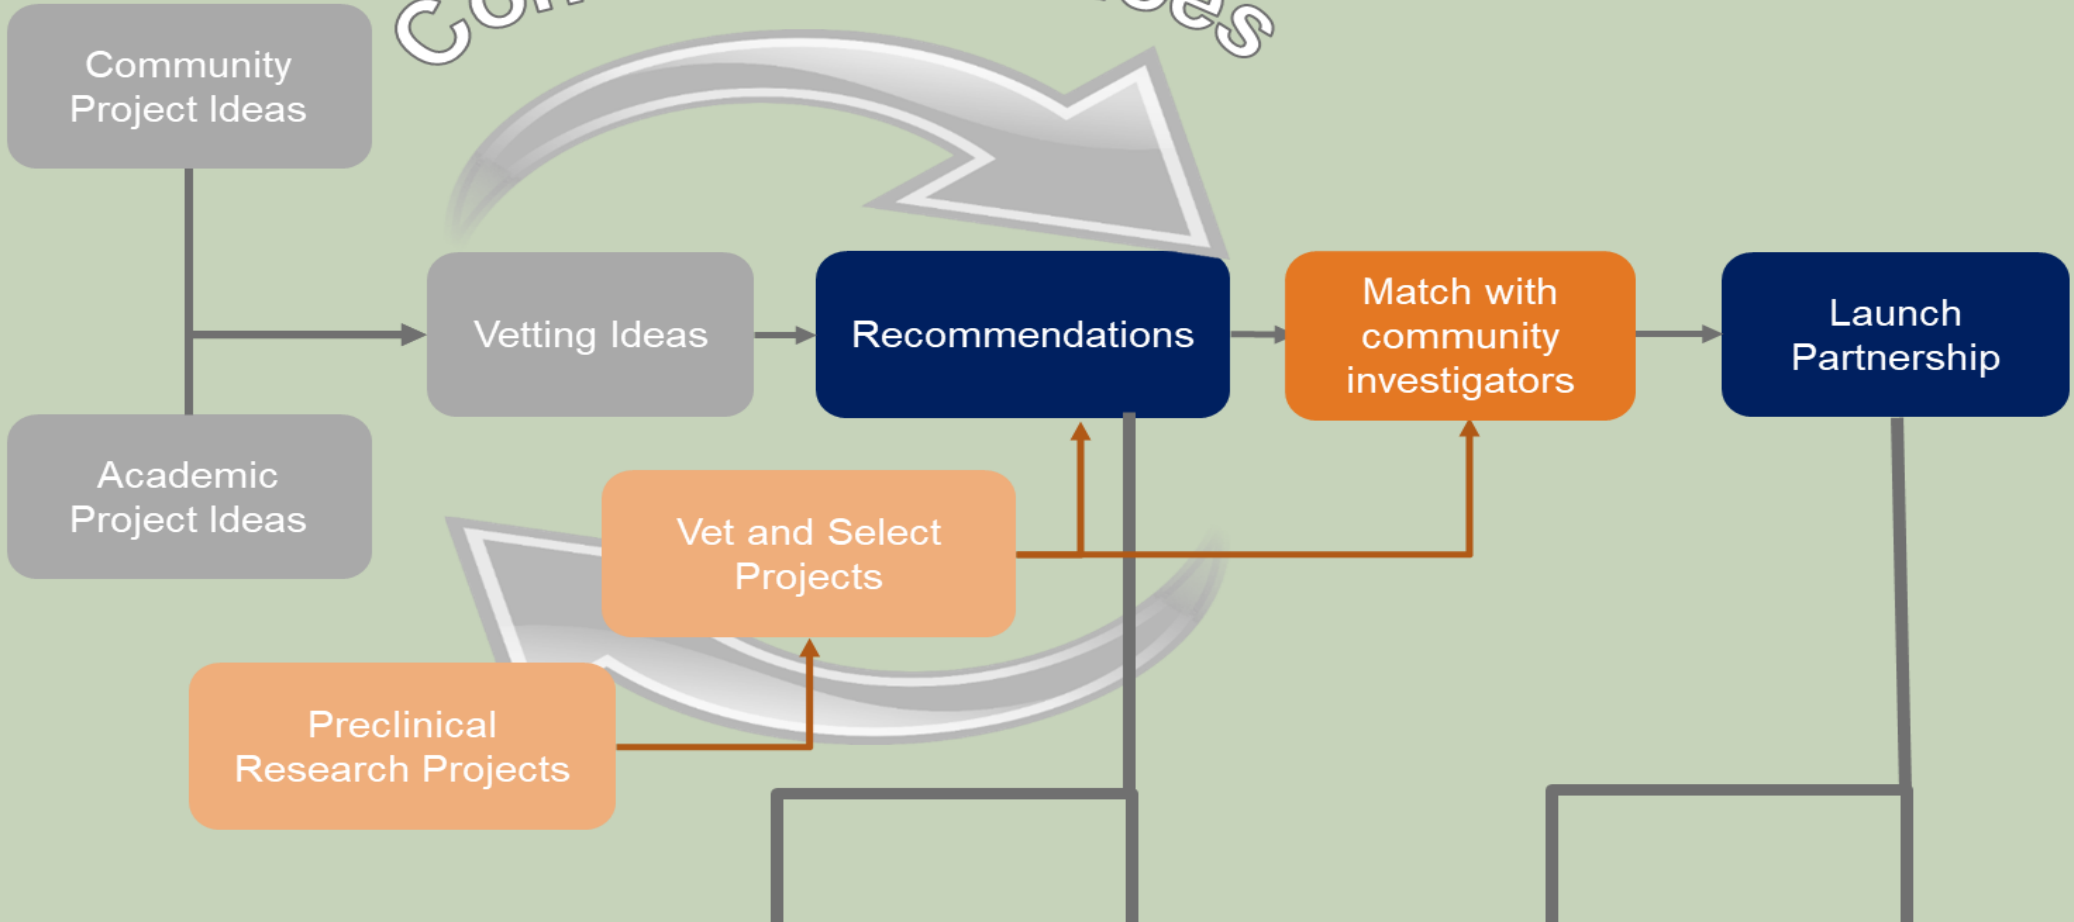

- Appropriate organizational structure and team composition
- Shared leadership, contributions, and distributed responsibility for decision making
- Resource allocation
- Plans for professional development
- Conflict resolution

Applications often request that applicants address how they will develop trust and a shared vision, as well as how shared responsibilities, interpersonal interactions, and professional credit will be managed.

ITHS Annual Academic/Community Partnership Awards

Awards allow up to $50,000 for 1 year; at least 2 awards will be given.

Examples

- Investigate a community-based health problem
- Disseminate evidence-based health innovations into practice
- Target health promotion/prevention
- Examine ways to enhance or implement sustainable health programs in community settings

Stay tuned! 2023 Request for applications to be announced in May.
